Caribbean entertainment company Tropicalfete.com set for 10th anniversary party

JARED MCCALLISTER

Sunday, August 9th 2009, 2:01 AM

The Web site Tropicalfete.com, nicknamed the "Official Home for Caribbean Entertainment," will be living up to its moniker by presenting its music- and culture-filled 10th anniversary celebration on Aug. 26 at Crash Mansion, 199 Bowery (between Spring and Rivington Sts. in Manhattan).

The anniversary - dedicated to the ever-growing list of popular Caribbean dance crazes, such as the Butterfly, Boggle and Hard Wuk - also will honor The Mad Stuntman for his everlasting super dance hit "I Like To Move It Move It."

There also will be colorfully dressed masqueraders from the Sesame Flyers International mas band to put the affair in a festive carnival mood.

The Inferno V.9 Band, known for its hot French Creole version of Shaggy's "It Wasn't Me;" soca star Jadine; songstress Essence; R&B singer Shermain, along with DJ Trini Boom and DJ Power Book will be entertaining patron's at the anniversary bash.

For information, call (718) 551-3374, send e-mail to info@tropicalfete.com or visit their Web site.

New sponsor backs soccer series

Brooklyn's Caribbean Cup soccer series has a new name because of a new deal with the international communication company Digicel.

Representatives of Digicel, the largest mobile operator in the Caribbean, last week publicly announced its three-year sponsorship of the soccer series, which will become Digicel Caribbean Cup New York

The 17-year-old tournament, which features 12 representative teams from the Caribbean and South America, is presently holding playoffs for its 2009 season. The season ends with finals on Sept. 6.

"With so many Caribbean nationals living in New York passionately supporting their teams, it is only natural that we extend our support to the Digicel Caribbean Cup New York," said Valerie Estime, Digicel's general manager for the Diaspora Region.

Fred Ballantyne, president of Caribbean Cup, which organizes the annual tournament, welcomed the support from Digicel, which is now expanding from the Caribbean into South American markets.

"With the tournament now in its 17th year, we need all the assistance we can get to make sure that our players get all the necessary support to further their development and to ensure that fans can enjoy some great displays of Caribbean football talent," said Ballantyne.

The matches will be held at Thomas Jefferson HS field, 125-08 Flatlands Ave. (near Shepherd Ave.) in Brooklyn. For tickets, start times and other information, call (646) 879-5732, (347) 886-8224 or (917) 868-0498.

Curacao on the cheap

Whether you're going home to Curacao or want to get a taste of this Caribbean island, Air Jamaica can make it easy and less expensive than usual. The airline has a special rate to Curacao.
